NEW WELLS IN THE LOCAL OIL FIELDS

Considerable Activity Around Louisa, With Most Encouraging Results.

Well No. 2 on W. M. Savage's farm near Fallsburg is reported to be one of the best in the field. It is about ready for pumping. 1100 feet of oil was reported to be standing in the well yesterday.

The well on L. N. Hutchinson's place at Fallsburg was drilled in Sunday. Indications are good for a paying producer. The well was shot Thursday afternoon. 200 feet of oil was standing in the well Wednesday.

The well on Mrs. Lackey's farm is down 1200 feet and the one on T. H. Burchett's place is almost the same depth.

O'Brien well No. 1 on Three Mile will be pumped today for the first time.

Ecclesiastical And Clerical.

At the Christian church last Sunday evening the Rev. L. M. Copley, of the Baptist church, delivered a scholarly discourse on The Prodigal Son's Brother, presenting that somewhat abused individual in quite an original light. Mr. Copley spoke of the parables of the Lost Sheep and the Lost Coin, using them to make clearer the parable of the Prodigal Son. It was an able discourse and was listened to with marked attention by a large audience. Rev. John Artip will preach at this church on next Sunday evening.

The pastor of the M. E. Church, Rev. C. B. Plummer, who had been holding a successful meeting in Paintsville, closed the series on Saturday, coming home Sunday and filling his pulpit at both services.

The Rev. Oles Hamilton, of the Baptist church Saturday returned from Willard, where he held a good meeting which lasted several days. He preached in his home church Sunday morning and night. He went to Paintsville Thursday and preached for the Baptist church there Thursday night.

The Rev. B. M. Keith, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, preached large congregations at both services. There were 202 present in Sunday school, probably the largest number ever present at any Sunday school in Louisa. At the close of the regular service the recently elected officers of the Woman's Missionary Society were installed. After the congregation had been dismissed an interesting service of song and testimony was held.

MOTION FOR BAIL.

By order of Judge M. M. Redwine, Noah Wells, jailer of Lawrence county, will take Dr. Motley to Sandy Hook, Elliott county, where the Judge will hear and pass upon a motion to admit him to bail. Dr. Motley is charged with the killing of El David Dennis, in Morgan county, nearly a year ago. The case was sent to Lawrence county on a change of venue. The order calls for Dr. Motley's presence on the first day of the Elliott circuit court, which is February 2nd.

TO CONSULT A PEDIATRIST.

On Saturday last Mrs. D. J. Burchett, Jr., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. J. J. Johnson, of Baltimore, and Dr. A. W. Bromley, of this city, took her young son to Cincinnati for consultation with an eminent specialist in diseases of children. The visit was satisfactory and the party excepting Mrs. Johnson, who went from Cincinnati to her home, returned Monday to Louisa.

BORN, A DAUGHTER.

Walter, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson, of this city, informed the NEWS that he was the glad brother of a little sister, who arrived at his home on Sunday night. The young lady's name is Helen Louise, and her advent was the occasion of much rejoicing.

Mrs. Grace Evans, who had been the guest of C. B. Moore and family, returned home Sunday.

CHARLES R. LEWIS.

Many Louisians and many more who live in the county will remember Charles R. Lewis. Many years ago he came to Lawrence, from where nobody seemed to know, and obtained a teacher's certificate. He was a man of considerable intelligence, but was a bit eccentric. After teaching for a considerable time he studied law, and if the NEWS is not mistaken, he passed an examination and was admitted to the bar. He was stalwart in figure but was a cripple. He went to Milton, W. Va., after he left Louisa and practiced law. For a long time nothing was heard from him, but a few days ago it was learned that about a year ago he had married. It was also learned that very recently a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, and to celebrate the event Lewis named the boy Robert Ingersoll and got on a big drunk the debauch resulting in his death. The boy, however, survived the name which had been inflicted upon him, and after the death of the father the mother changed her son's name to Charles.

MARRIED IN FLORIDA.

Mr. Mason Crozier, formerly of Pike county, was recently married to Miss Mary Damron, of Bowling Green, Ky. The bride at one time was a mission worker in Pike county, and the groom had been a student at the K. N. C.

CHAS. HICKS BROUGHT BACK FROM OHIO

Serious Charge Against a Young Man From Lower Part of County.

At the August term of the Lawrence Circuit Court Charles Hicks, of Rove creek, this county, was indicted for criminal assault upon the person of his niece, the 11-year-old daughter of his brother, Sherman Hicks. The accused fled and escaped apprehension until Jan. 19, when he was arrested in Portsmouth and placed in the city jail. Retained by a sister of the prisoner, Attorney Theo. K. Funk attempted to attack the warrant of the police court in order to secure the young man's release, but the police chief held another affidavit, charging Hicks with being a fugitive from justice, a second fornication.

Armed with a requisition from Governor McCreary and accompanied by two witnesses Monday Sheriff Stone went to Columbus, O., and obtained an order from Governor Cox for the delivery of Hicks to him. This was made necessary by the fact that Hicks had declared his intention to resist extradition.

Sheriff Stone went from Columbus to Portsmouth, got his man and returned with him to Louisa Tuesday morning, and lodged him in jail. The penalty for the offense with which Hicks is charged is death or imprisonment for life.

REAR END COLLISION.

150 sleeping passengers on N. & W. train No. 4 were badly shaken up and frightened early Wednesday morning when the train crashed into the rear of a derailed freight at Wilmore, the other side of Matewan. The engine was overturned, the engineer and fireman escaping serious injury by jumping. None of the passengers were injured.

TO MOVE TO RICEVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmauch and daughter will move in about three weeks to Riceville, Ky., where Mr. Schmauch is agent for the Big Sandy Ky. River R. R. and also book keeper for the Licking Valley Grocery Co.—Ashland Independent.

KENNISON CLUB.

The N. K. W. Club will meet next Monday, Feb. 2, at 2 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. M. F. Conley. Mrs. James Reynolds will read a paper on the subject, "John Milton", which will be followed by a discussion of his life and writings. Also magazine articles will be read. MRS. H. C. OSBORNE, Sec.

LOCAL STOCK FARM BUYS THOROUGHbred CATTLE

Herd of Finest Shorthorns from Central Kentucky Now on Glenwood Farm.

Van Buren Shortridge, one of the best known citizens and stock men of this section, has determined to engage in the breeding of thoroughbred short horn cattle at his farm at Glenwood, this county, and has purchased a herd bred on the famous Elmendorf farm at Lexington. For chief of the herd he bought a fine registered bull, bred on the celebrated place of Abram Renick, the well known breeder near Winchester. Farmers are invited to visit Mr. Shortridge's place and take a look at these fine cattle. "Perfection," the chief of the herd, register No. 353799, is offered for service. Mr. Shortridge also has two males three months old and several fine heifers already bred. He will have thoroughbreds for sale from time to time. An enterprise like this deserves encouragement, and the NEWS hopes the farmers will take hold of this important matter.

Mr. Shortridge has an advertisement in this issue of the NEWS, to which all interested are referred for particulars.

JAIL FIGHT.

On Sunday last the monotony of prison life was broken by a couple of inmates of the county jail in a manner which caused the other prisoners to sit up and take notice. Elmer Crabtree assaulted Kendall Arnett, and when he had finished the recipient of his attentions had to be taken to the hospital for surgical aid. When he was carried back to jail he played a return engagement with Crabtree with such success that he, too, had to go to the hospital for repairs. At the last term of the circuit court both these boys and another named Adkins had been convicted of a felony and sentenced to confinement in the State Reform School.

A LESSON IN GRAMMAR.

When the writer was a pedagogue he used to impress upon the boys and girls the idea that "seen" was an old man and always used one of his three crutches, has, had or have, while "saw" was youthful and needed none of these crutches and never had one of them by his side. It was a simple device, but they remembered it, and some older people need some similar one to keep them from saying "I seen" and "I have saw," "I taken" and such phrases.—Morehead Mountaineer.

The very many who are careless in their use of "took" and "taken" would do well to heed the lesson regarding "saw" and "seen," and for the sake of dear dead and gone Lindley Murray never, no, never use that worst of barbarisms, "takened."

THEY ATTEND CHURCH.

It is a good sign to see that a very large number of the K. N. C. students are regular attendants upon the Sunday services of the various churches. This shows a commendable spirit. The hours spent every Sunday at church will bring mental and moral improvement to all who occupy part of their time in so doing.

CITY COUNCIL.

Next Tuesday is the time for holding the regular monthly meeting of the city council. The attention of the honorable members is respectfully called to the condition of our streets. How would it do to hitch a team to a good split log drag and use it in putting the streets in a more slightly condition?

CARD OF THANKS.

On behalf of all the members of our family I desire to express to neighbors and friends our sincere thanks for the attention and assistance so kindly extended at the time of the death and burial of my mother. We feel very grateful to each one. R. A. STONE.

PARALYSIS ENDS LIFE OF MRS. W. M. STONE

After 12 Years of Helplessness, a Second Stroke Brings Death.

On Thursday evening last, after many years of suffering, coupled with almost total helplessness, Mrs. W. M. Stone, of this city, closed her eyes upon all things earthly to open them in the blissful House of many Mansions. Nearly twelve years ago a stroke of paralysis fell upon her active form, and from that time until the moment when suddenly and without warning the summons that is never disobeyed called her she was a stranger to the activities of life. She was in her chair, near her bed, feeling better than usual, when her grandson called her daughter's attention to his grandmother. Mrs. Stone's head had fallen upon her breast, and before any neighbor or a physician could arrive Mrs. Stone was dead. On Saturday afternoon appropriate funeral services were held at the home which was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends. The Rev. B. M. Keith, pastor of the M. E. Church South, assisted by the Rev. H. B. Hulett, conducted the simple service. A scriptural lesson was read, a feeling prayer was offered, sweet songs were sung, and after the last looks had been taken the mortal remains of the dead woman were taken to the Pine Hill, there to await the call which will summon the dead to rise.

Mrs. Mat. Stone was born in Tazewell-co., Va., in April, 1847. She was the daughter of Floyd Shannon and wife. In 1867 she was married to W. M. Stone, who, with a son, R. A. Stone, and a daughter, Miss Minnie Stone, survive the faithful wife and devoted mother. One brother, J. W. Shannon, and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Layne, of East Huntington, are living. The first born of Mr and Mrs. Stone was a son named Albert Gallatin, who died aged 18 months. Mrs. Stone was eminently a good woman. She loved her family, her relatives, her friends and the church which she joined in early life and of which she remained a consistent member until she was called from earth to heaven.

She had a cheerful, buoyant disposition which enabled her to bear with patient fortitude the ills of life, and her faith in Him whom she trusted enabled her to look forward with peace and not apprehension to the death which she knew was inevitable.

"Life's fitful fever being o'er she sleeps well."

SICK FOLKS.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Burns, who had grip, are improved. Mrs. Burns is able to be about her room and Mr. Burns is stronger and sleeps better.

Mrs. John Gartin, who has fever, was very sick last week but is said to be better.

Mr. Shank, of the Louisa Mill, is barely able to be out after a ten days' spell of rheumatism.

Mr. Will Queen, who has had a long, hard siege, is again better and seems booked for entire recovery.

Mrs. Thomas Luther has been a very sick woman but is now able to walk a little.

The condition of Judge J. H. O'Brien has not changed much. At times he suffers great pain, but he is cheerful and glad to receive calls from friends.

Mrs. George Justice, who has been sick for some time, does not improve rapidly.

THE ORIGINAL FORECASTER.

The ground hog, the original weather forecaster, will appear as usual next Monday. Many otherwise sane people will watch the day with much interest, firmly believing that if the little fellow sees his shadow when he emerges from his burrow he will bear a retreat and six weeks of cold weather will follow.

But as time wears on most people are paying less and less attention to ground hogs, the phases of the moon and the "sign," whatever that may be. Still, we occasionally "meet up with" folks who won't even look at a patent medicine almanac which does not have on the inside of the cover the figure of a man surrounded by figures with lines pointing to various portions of his anatomy, telling when the "sign" is in the head or the feet and so forth.

HAD LECTURED IN WASHINGTON

Prof. George McClure, of the School for Deaf Mutes in Danville, Ky., spent Sunday and Monday with his mother, Mrs. Martha McClure. He had been to Washington, where he delivered a lecture to the students of Gallaudet College, which is the post graduate school for the deaf mutes of the country. The lecture was delivered in the sign language and as it was given it was interpreted orally to those present who could hear.

C. & O. RAILROAD TO BE REDISTRICTED

Three Grand Divisions to Cover the System, Effective Feb. 1st.

On Sunday, February 1st, the C. & O. Railway Company will make some important changes. The system will be divided into three grand divisions.

The eastern division will include everything east of Hinton, W. Va. The central division consists of the line from Hinton to Big Sandy junction and the Big Sandy line.

The western division includes the Cincinnati, Lexington and Chicago divisions.

W. P. Hudson will be General Superintendent of the western division, and J. Paul Stevens of the central division. L. B. Allen will be Superintendent of the central district.

It is said the dispatchers will be moved from Ashland to Huntington.

The chief object of this change is said to be the consolidation of the coal districts, in order to handle the business to better advantage.

ULYSSES.

After a very brief illness Uncle Andy Nelson, as he was called, died at his home at Lowmansville last Wednesday evening. He was 75 years old and a civil war pensioner. He was a good citizen.

Rev. W. W. Williams, of Borders Chapel, left Tuesday on the C. and O. for St. Albans, Ill., the home of his daughter, Mrs. Moody Sturgill. Mr. Williams' son-in-law was recently shot and killed by a man there with whom, I understand, he had a quarrel about some business affair.

Mr. Sturgill formerly lived in this county and was a good citizen of honest, industrious and moral qualities, and we regret very much the sad affair. Mr. Williams expects to bring his daughter and her children home with him.

Miss Lillian Moore closed her school at Walnut Grove on the 16. She and her sister Nora started for their home at Kenasha, Wis., last Wednesday. They were accompanied as far as Ashland by Nathan George and wife, who have gone to Richmond, Ky., where they will again enroll as students of the E. K. S. N. S. This is their junior year there.

In the near future Joe Borders will bring his saw mill to Lost creek where he will saw lumber and cross-ties.

Marion Young has bought a house and lot of Dock Thompson at Walnut Grove and will move to it soon. EUREKA.

JEFF EVANS KILLED NEAR CINCINNATI

Young Son of Charles M. Evans, Formerly of Lawrence County.

Jeff Evans, a native of this county was accidentally killed near Cincinnati on Jan. 16. He was working with a force of laborers in rebuilding some structures which were destroyed by the flood of last spring. He was engaged near a derrick, when the boom swung against him, killing him almost instantly. The body was sent to his home in Chandler, Oklahoma, for burial. The deceased was about 22 years old and was a son of Charles Evans, who formerly resided near this place, and was a nephew of W. T. Evans, of Louisa. He was sober and industrious, and his untimely death is to be deplored.

PRINCESS.

The stork came sweeping through this country a few days ago and left twin girl babies with Geo. McCalester and wife. It also stopped at the home of George Stephens and wife and left a 10-pound girl. All these people are doing well.

A protracted meeting is now in progress at this place, being conducted by Rev. Conry, of the M. E. Church. He is assisted by Rev. Spaulding, of West Virginia.

Death came to the home of Dr. Jake Burton, of Rush, last Sunday and took from there Frank, the 20-year-old son, who was the joy and pride of the family. Funeral services conducted Tuesday by Rev. Conry. The entire vicinity bows in grief with the bereaved family.

Much sickness prevails here among the infants. Scarcely an infant is escaping untouched by the disease. No fatalities so far, but some are expected.

Our public school closed Friday. The principal, Mr. Porter, entered immediately upon duties as an insurance man in Ashland. The assistant, Andrew Thompson, retired to his farm near McNeal, where his attention will be given wholly to farming.

John W. Stewart, whose land sale we mentioned before, has gone to his new home at Fullerton, Ky., much pleased with his present situation and its surroundings. His place here is filled by Rev. C. H. Salding, a worthy minister of the Gospel, who has an excellent family. We welcome them to our midst.

Some of our boys who have been visiting relatives in distant states during the past session of grand jury, have about all returned to their native haunts, but from the action of the grand jury some of the boys will get free boarding and lodging with Jailer Sam Debord at Catlettsburg, at periods ranging from 10 to 200 days. It seems the only remedy lately.

A large coal land deal is in progress here. Just what the outcome of the deal will be remains to be seen.

John Wolfe and wife were in Ashland last Saturday visiting their daughter, Mrs. Layne.

Raymond Clare, asst. mine inspector for Kentucky, was with us one day last week.

H. A. Paynter and Walter Bean of Winchester, were here a few days ago.

Medley Thompson is improving. Lon Hall has moved back to our town after a short stay near McNeal, in the employ of the East Fort Coal Co.

Willis Shelton and wife have returned from an extended visit with friends in West Virginia.

C. B. Hardman, wife and son, Laton, spent Sunday in Ashland. BUCKSKIN BESS.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church South met with Mrs. F. T. D. Wallace, Jr., Tuesday.

The Young People's Society will meet with Miss Vivian Hays, and the Juvenile Society with Katharine Carey Saturday afternoon.

George Workman, a prominent merchant of Echo, W. Va., was here Wednesday.

THREE STEPS IN ADVANCE WHY NOT TAKE THEM?

Kentucky lags behind neighboring states in allowing children under 16 to work 10 hours a day, according to a statement issued by the National Child Labor Committee. A new child labor bill drafted by the Kentucky Child Labor Association will be introduced in the present legislature and Mr. Huston Quinn, president of the Kentucky Child Labor Association, has asked the assistance of the National Child Labor Committee in the Campaign for its adoption.

An important feature of the bill is the provision limiting the hours of work for all under 16 to 8 a day. Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee believes that the experience of Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, and the fifteen other states which have already adopted the 8 hour day, proves that such a limit is not only beneficial to the children employed, but positively advantageous to the industries involved. He says employers in states with the 8 hour law have emphatically stated that, although they opposed the provision when it was introduced, they are now heartily in favor of such a restriction.

Another important provision, according to the National Child Labor Committee, is the establishment of a 21 year age limit for night messengers. Mr. Lovejoy says that a study of the night messenger service has proved conclusively that it is to the moral interest of the public to establish this limit between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. Little can be gained from the night messenger service, according to the Committee, but a knowledge of evil, as calls to disorderly houses are an inevitable part of the experience of messenger boys. Seven states have already adopted a 21 year limit and 12 more have at least an 18 year limit.

The National Child Labor Committee rates coal mining as a dangerous occupation, especially for children. The latest census credits Kentucky with 300 coal mines giving employment to 18,000 persons, and yet Kentucky fixes the same age limit of fourteen for this work as for ordinary kinds of employment. Mr. Lovejoy says that the long list of coal mine fatalities every year is sufficient argument for a 16 year age limit in mines.

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP.

Soap dries your scalp, causing dandruff, then hair falls out—Try this next time.

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderline to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderline Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderline and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderline dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderline is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderline from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

"Sakes Alive, John, You Hungry? That ROOT JUICE is a Marvel." You don't eat and you're ready for another big, husky feed at supper time and more big meals tomorrow. Now you can't eat and you're ready to help you or what you've tried before to help you more money you have wasted on uncertain things, you just try ROOT JUICE for ten days and prove these words. It's simply got to give results or back goes your money. You're taking no chances this time. ROOT JUICE is guaranteed to give satisfaction to everybody who uses it. It is made of roots and herbs and the way it works is simply to make all over again with every part and organ working like a clock. Don't you let anybody switch you off on something else this time. You get guaranteed, money-back ROOT JUICE and try it for just ten days. Get it right off, today and take your first dose before your next meal. It's good, you'll like the taste, but you'll feel like screaming with joy and happiness when you see the glorious relief it brings. In your race for success don't lose sight of the fact that only through good health can you attain success.

The tension you must necessarily place upon your nerves, and the sacrifice of proper exercise you have to make at times must be balanced in some way.

Lawrence, Johnson, Pike, Floyd and Martin County Drug Store are Giving Away a Limited Supply of the New External Vapor Treatment.

Applied Over Throat and Chest, It Relieves Colds Over Night—Croup in Fifteen Minutes.

Local druggists report a remarkable demand for the new vapor treatment for croup and cold troubles. Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve, recently introduced here from North Carolina. This treatment is in the form of a salve that is applied externally over the chest and throat. The heat of the body releases the soothing antiseptic vapors of Eucalyptol, Thymol, Menthol, Camphor, Pinus Sylvestris, etc., which are inhaled with every breath through the air passages direct to the lungs. At the same time Vick's is absorbed through the skin, taking out the soreness.

In croup cases the breathing is made easier in five minutes, and in fifteen minutes the worst cases are relieved. In cases of severe colds hot wet towels are first applied to the chest and throat to open the pores of the skin. Follow this with a good application of Vick's and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors inhaled all night long loosen the phlegm and open the air passages. The next morning the head is clear and the soreness gone from the lungs.

A number of the more enterprising druggists have made arrangements with the manufacturers by which they are allowed to give away a limited number of 25-cent packages free to their customers.

If your druggist has given away all his free packages, you can purchase a 25c, 50c or $1.00 jar on 30 days' trial. With each purchase you are given a refund blank, good for your money back if you do not find Vick's the best thing you have ever tried.

Remember the supply with each druggist for free distribution is limited, so present your coupon early. These coupons are good only at your own dealer's.

Good at your druggist's for one 25-cent package of Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve. If your druggist has given away all his free packages, try a 25-cent jar on 30 days' trial.

SUGGESTION FOR JUDGE.

(One paragraph was inadvertently omitted from this article last week, and we are therefore reprinting it with omission corrected. The article was brought in by one of Mr. O'Neal's warm friends.)

We notice in last week's NEWS the announcement of Judge Redwine for the nomination of Circuit Judge in the primary to be held one year and a half hence. The selection of a judge for a six year term is important to the district and the one selected should be learned in the law and who would enforce the law with equal and exact justice to all.

Lawrence county has yielded to other counties in the district for twenty-five years, and has consistently supported favorite sons of other counties, some of whom have been repeatedly honored with office. Why should not Lawrence county support forward with a candidate for Circuit Judge and elect him?

We suggest W. D. O'Neal, Jr., for this office and make this suggestion because he is a student of the law and learned in the law, and we believe that he would fearlessly and without favor administer the law, and mete out equal and exact justice to all.

Those who are best acquainted with Mr. O'Neal know that he possesses what the lawyers call, a judicial mind. They also know that he has the courage of his convictions, and would withstand any influence that might be brought to bear on him to do the wrong thing. While always loyal to his friends, he is pre-eminently a man who in discharging his judicial duties would forget everything but right and duty. (Adv.) CITIZEN.

LOUISA MAN'S LUCKY FIND.

Will Interest Readers of the NEWS.

Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorders, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging statement by a Louisa man.

William G. Shannon, Maple St., Louisa, Ky., says: "When I hear of anyone having kidney trouble, I always advise the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. For years I had been a sufferer from pains through my back and I had trouble in straightening after stooping. I was restless and when I got up in the morning, I was tired. The kidney action was irregular. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief. The kidney action became regular and the pains and aches left. I am glad to confirm what I have said about Doan's Kidney Pills, when I have endorsed them before."

JUDGE M. M. REDWINE
ISSUES A CARD

A Few Words to the People of the 32nd Judicial District of Kentucky.

Having recently been called from the private walks of life to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Hannah, who has been elevated to the highest court in our commonwealth, I am at the work of holding your courts for a short time. Yielding to what seems to be a decided majority favoring my election for one regular term, and having a natural desire to be once elected Circuit Judge of my native district and conscientiously believing that I can fill that important office to the letter of the law, and that if I am ever elected Judge I must be now, I have decided to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination at the regular primary to be held in August 1915. I do not believe I should or will have any serious opposition, yet, if I do, I hope to have all democrats who believe that with my experience of over 30 years as a lawyer I can and will fill the place with credit to myself and to the good of all the people, to give me their support which I will ever appreciate and gratefully remember.

I pledge to you my word and sacred honor that I will rigidly enforce the law and crush out the evils, which do so much to disturb the good order and peace of all communities. St. Adv.

Very sincerely yours,
M. M. REDWINE.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT.

Brother James Allen Frazier was born near Glenhayes, Wayne-co., W. Va., August the 3rd, 1849, and died at his home in Fort Gay, W. Va., January 14th, 1914, aged 64 years, 5 months and 11 days. Brother Frazier joined the M. E. Church South in 1870 and was a true and devoted member, and on his death bed repeatedly expressed himself that the way was clear and that he was prepared and ready to go whenever the Master called him, and his last words were, "Jesus, Take Me."

Brother Frazier was made a Master Mason in Vinson Lodge No. 66, A. F. & A. M. June 24th, 1891, and was a true and loyal member of the fraternity. He was buried in Fairview cemetery, with the usual Masonic honors, conducted by Vinson Lodge No. 66, A. F. & A. M., assisted by a number of the brethren of Apperson Lodge, Ky., No. 195.

Now, Whereas The Almighty Father in His Wisdom has seen fit to take from us our beloved brother and transfer him from this imperfect to that all perfect glorious and celestial lodge above, and realizing that our loss is his eternal gain. Therefore, be it Resolved: That in the death of Bro. Frazier our lodge has lost a true and worthy brother, the church a faithful member, the community an upright, honest citizen and his family a kind and loving husband and father.

Resolved 2nd: That we extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy in this hour of their great sorrow, and commend them to the loving care of Him, who doeth all things well.

Resolved 3rd: That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the lodge, a copy sent the bereaved family and a copy sent the Wayne and Big Sandy News, with the request that they publish them.

CADMUS.

About noon on Monday, Dec. 29, 1913, Thomas N. Gulley, of St. Clair, Hawking-co., Tenn., shot and killed M. O. Fugate, a well known carpenter of St. Clair. Fugate was going from his home over to St. Clair to his work and while passing Gulley's house and being in the public road Gulley shot from his home and killed Fugate, using a shot gun heavily loaded with large shot and slugs, shooting him four times. He lived only about 3 hours. He leaves a wife and five small children. He was the son of John D. Fugate and was born in Pike-co., Ky., March 17, 1881 and he was well known in the Sandy valley. His mother is Mrs. Susan Hibbits, who resides with her two daughters at Cadmus. His widow is the daughter of A. J. and Sarah Scott, of Cadmus. As soon as Mr. Scott heard of his son-in-law's death he started for St. Clair to see about his daughter and her five little children. His widow wrote to her people in this country that he kept praying all the time he lived after he was shot and a minister came to see him and asked him if he was all right with the Lord and he said yes. The undertaker wrote to his people also and said that he told him that the good Lord has saved me. So his dying statement should be a great consolation to his many friends and relatives and while they mourn they do not mourn as those that have no hope. May the good Lord bless the bereaved widow and little orphan children, the weeping mother and mourning relatives and friends.

He is released from sorrow toll and strife And welcomed to an endless life. His soul has now begun to prove The height and depth of Jesus' love.

The Sergeant's Promotion

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

It may have been known among the officers that she was coming—a blue eyed, fair haired girl of eighteen from the east named Miss Bell—but the first we heard of it was when we went to the depot as an escort.

Miss Bell was a regular chatterbox. She couldn't understand the wide gulf separating officer from private, but in ignorance thought a soldier was a soldier, no matter whether he carried a sabre or a sword. Being left alone with Sergeant Larkins for a few moments while the captain sent off a telegram for her, she did not hesitate to chatter away as if they had been formally introduced and had met before, and this action of hers was to have a strange bearing on after events. After a couple of days we noticed a change in Sergeant Larkins. He was a young man of thirty, well educated and evidently something above the common, and there were rumors that his father was a wealthy New Yorker and that the son had entered the army because of a quarrel between them. I repeat that we saw a change in him, and pretty soon it came to us that he had fallen in love with Miss Bell at first sight.

Miss Bell had been at the fort about a month when the Sioux on the reservation began to make trouble, and the Indian police reported that a number of them had broken away and were marauding in the foothills. Such stories were always afloat, and no credence was given them until some deed of violence had been committed. It had been planned by half a dozen officers and their wives to hold a picnic at the falls of Buffalo river, and so Sergeant Larkins and the same half dozen of us were again detailed. It was twelve miles to the falls, and the picnicers were loaded into two ambulances. There were five officers, seven ladies and three children, and the escort was ordered to keep them in sight.

From the first Sergeant Larkins sat apart from us and seemed moody and taciturn. There was no question but that jealousy was at work, and he hadn't the strength of mind to throw it off and realize the situation. We had many a wink and laugh at his expense, and yet we felt to pity him. We had been told to go up for the empty baskets at 4 o'clock, and the hour had just gone 2 when a fusillade of revolver shots, followed by the warwhoops of Indians, jumped every man to his feet. Ten seconds later we were following the sergeant up the gorge, and in five minutes we came upon the women and children hidden away among the rocks and stricken with terror. A quarter of an hour before the five officers had caught sight of a cub bear on the other side of the falls. They had gone up stream a few rods and crossed on a log, but the shots we heard had not been fired at the cub. A band of twenty or more renegades who were hiding in the foothills had discovered the picnicers half an hour before and were planning a wipeout of every soul when the officers moved. They played right into the hands of the red men. In their chase after the cub they left the falls half a mile behind, and as they came slowly back they found the Indians confronting them. There was but one course—to make a dash for it—and it was gallantly done. The Indians were too strong and too well posted, however. A lieutenant was dropped dead in his tracks and a major and a captain wounded.

The first move on our part, seeing that the women and children were safe, was to secure cover behind the boulders and open fire on the Indians. They had counted on a sure thing, and their yells of rage when they knew of our presence were loud and long. We had them between two fires, and yet so well were they sheltered that they had no means of knowing that they had only two unwounded men in front of them, armed with revolvers. The women told us about the officers going away in a body; but, although there had been severe firing, we hoped none of them had been hit. After we had fired three or four rounds apiece the sergeant called out to know how it was with the officers. The major answered, giving the names of the killed and wounded. Three of the five were behind the same boulder and could use their revolvers. It was a curious position in which the three parties were placed, but as the Indians were in such a strong force they could defend their front and rear at the same time. If we left cover to cross the creek we would be exposed to certain death. If they left cover to attack the camp we had only to shoot them down. What we feared was that they would get out of the trap by dashing upon the officers in front or work to the left and finally take them in the rear.

We solved the difficulty by sending one man back to the post for reinforcements, while we held the Indians with our fire. When the new troops came up we drove the Indians off and got the women and children and wounded officers safely out of it. It was generally conceded that Sergeant Larkins had put up the best fight of any one officer or enlisted man. The colonel recommended him for promotion, and then the secret came out that he had not only got a commission, but had got Miss Bell. But the best part of it was that Larkins was worth half a million in his own right.

A Story of A Mystery

By MARTHA V. MONROE

At nineteen I lost my father, and since he left his affairs in a very bad state it was absolutely necessary that I get married. I lived in a suburban town not far from a city, and the boys as soon as they had received an education left it for parts that furnished better opportunities for making a living. Consequently there was no one for me to marry. Ned Freeman remained on the place, but he had no means and was not engaged in any business. I wished he would do something to get ahead, for I liked him very much, and I fancied that if he could support a wife he would ask me to marry him.

The idea of advertising for a husband occurred to me. I was young and unsophisticated and did not realize that matrimonial advertisements are not likely to bring satisfactory results. I wrote out what I wished to communicate and started out with it to do some shopping, intending to mail my letter addressed to a newspaper in the city at the same time. I did not take a bag with me, and having no pocket I carried the letter in my hand. I was so undetermined about posting it that I carried it about with me while I made my purchases. Then I missed it. Whether I had laid it on a counter or dropped it I couldn't tell. But my losing it decided the question as to what I should do about it, for, being addressed and stamped, the finder would drop it in the mail.

The next day I looked in the newspaper for my advertisement, and, sure enough, there it was. I thanked heaven that whoever had found it could not know from anything on the envelope that I had advertised for a husband. In a few days I went to the city and called for any replies there might be for me. I was handed several, all of which, except one, I tore into bits as soon as I had read them. The exception was apparently genuine. It was couched in respectful language, seemed to indicate that the writer really wished a wife and was quite practical. He proposed that we correspond till we should get some knowledge of each other by that means, then meet.

All this led me to place confidence in him, and I replied to his letter giving him a fictitious name and the number of a box I had rented for the purpose at the postoffice.

We corresponded for several months. That he was an educated man there was no doubt. I asked for his occupation, but he declined to give it. This aroused a slight suspicion, which I indicated in my next letter. Then he confessed that he was trying to do something in a literary way. He had written some short stories which had been published in obscure periodicals. He was now finishing a novel and would soon have it ready to offer to publishers.

This announcement cast a damper on the affair. I had had several girl friends who had tried to make money by writing, and they had all failed. I felt that since I had fallen into the hands of one who was down with the literary fever nothing would ever come of it all. I did not reply to his letter making the announcement for some time; then I received a letter from him which was a trifle reproachful, whereupon I wrote him that I feared he was impractical.

I received no reply to this for some time; then he wrote that he had secured a publisher for his novel and it would be issued the next spring. He added that if it were a success he would take steps to make my further acquaintance; if not, the matter between us would better be dropped. Since no reply seemed to be required I sent none.

One morning while looking over a newspaper I saw an advertisement of a forthcoming novel by Edward Freeman. How singular that the only two men I had ever thought of marrying should both be novelists. I was surprised, for I did not know that Ned had any ambition to be a scribbler. The advertisement described his novel as a detective story of marvelous ingenuity. It seemed to me that if any story would be profitable it would be one of the detective kind. I wrote to my correspondent to ask what kind of a novel he was about to publish and he replied that his motif in the story was a mystery. This did not enlighten me.

Several months passed and I heard nothing from my correspondent. Then one day he wrote that he would call upon me the next evening. This quite took away my breath. At the appointed hour Ned Freeman came in as I was expecting my unknown friend. I must have shown my embarrassment, for he said at once:

"I'm not going to interfere with anybody or anybody with me. I know all about your correspondent, for I'm the man himself."

"Oh, heavens!"

"One day I walked behind you on the street and saw you drop a letter. I picked it up and mailed it for you. Wondering why you were writing to a newspaper I looked over the issue the next day and saw your ad."

I was too amazed and embarrassed to do more than stare.

Ned, to give me time to recover myself, went on to say that his novel was so far successful that he had made a contract with the publisher to write another one.

A year from that time we were married.

An American's Proposition For a French Girl

By RYLAND BELL

Jimmie Martindale's father went out to the wild west to become a ranch man when Jimmie was six years old. The consequence was that Jimmie grew up with all the freedom of a cow puncher. That doesn't mean that he was coarse, but that he was unconventional. His father and mother being refined he was himself refined, but he naturally partook of the spirit of the people among whom he lived.

When Jimmie was twenty-five he had lost father and mother and was in possession of one of the most extensive and best stocked ranches in New Mexico. Having never seen any thing of the world, he concluded to make a trip to Europe. He liked Paris pretty well and, having a mind to sojourn there awhile, joined a club and got himself introduced into society.

At a function given at the American embassy Jimmie met Clochette Desaix and fell desperately in love with her. The young lady seemed well pleased with him, and Jimmie was ready for a proposal. But he had by this time learned that marriages in Europe are not made as they are in America and certainly not as they were made among ranch people. Mlle. Desaix belonged to a very old family, and her father was a stickler for etiquette. Jimmie knew this and, feeling his want of ability to tackle the problem of a proposal without being coached, imparted his desires to M. Cousin, a member of his club who was considered well up in such matters, and asked for advice.

He was told that on no account must he speak to the object of his desires until the matter had been settled with her father. M. Desaix should be approached with great ceremony, and Jimmie must give him to understand that he would consider it a great honor to be permitted to ally himself with so ancient and honorable a family. There was no necessity for him to dwell on his love for the young lady, for love would according to French customs, have nothing to do with the matter. If he received encouragement from M. Desaix it would then be in order for him to enter upon an exposition of his affairs, mentioning the amount he proposed to settle on his wife just previous to the marriage. He would have a right to know what dowry the bride would receive from her father, but delicacy would suggest that he wait for M. Desaix to speak of that.

Jimmie thought he understood how the "racket was worked," as he expressed it, and started off to find M. Desaix. The latter had just finished dinner, and a man after dinner is usually approachable. Jimmie was invited into a smoking room, and his host, who had noticed his attentions at functions to his daughter and suspected, or, rather, felt sure of the object of his coming, skirmished by references to the weather. But Jimmie was not much of a hand at preliminaries and entered upon his subject in accordance with the coaching he had received.

"Monsieur," he said, "I have since my sojourn in Paris heard much of the long and honorable record of your family, and it has fired me with an ambition to enroll my name on its escutcheon."

Jimmie paused for breath. He appeared to M. Desaix very like a school-boy making his first speech and suffering from stage fright. A decanter stood on a side table, and the host, extending a hand to it, said:

"Monsieur, you do me great honor. Let us drink to the shades of my ancestors."

Jimmie jumped at the proposition and when fortified proceeded.

"Monsieur, I have met on several occasions your estimable daughter, Mlle. Clochette. I am aware that in France Cupid has no more place in matrimonial affairs than a grizzly has in a gopher hole, but I cannot refrain from saying that I consider Mlle. Clochette a deuced fine girl."

Jimmie paused, and M. Desaix saw by his expression that he was trying to decide between the encomiums upon Mlle. Clochette that were crowding upon him and skillfully led him back to the business in hand.

"Do I understand, monsieur, that you propose for the hand of my daughter?"

"You bet."

"Then perhaps you will begin by giving me some account of your family descent, after which, if your statement in this respect is satisfactory to me, we may take up the matter of settlements. What is your family coat of arms?"

"Never heard of any such. Father used to say he was going to adopt a pair of steer's horns quartered with a lariat, a cow puncher."

"Never mind that. I have understood that in America there are no family trees. As to settlements—"

"There I am more at home," Jimmie broke in, and he gave an account of his affairs that made M. Desaix's heart beat joyously, then, outwardly he continued to be unmoved. Jimmie offered to settle half his fortune on his wife. When M. Desaix mentioned his daughter's dot, Jimmie saw that its diminutiveness was embarrassing and cut the matter short by saying that his wife wouldn't need a dot.

Jimmie's proposition having been accepted, the Desaix family were notified, and he, being an American, as a special privilege was permitted to see his fiancée alone.

GOVERNOR SAYS MINERS SHOULD COME TO W. VA.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 26.—West Virginia offers better and more attractive opportunities for coal miners who are seeking steady employment and good homes than can be found in any other state in the Union," said Governor H. D. Hatfield today in speaking of the advantages afforded in this state to the man who wants employment with good wages and a good home and family.

"The substantial element of labor will find in our state everything that can consistently be desired, plenty of work, good wages, protection for their families as afforded under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law, and ample opportunities to establish homes where they may be surrounded with good living conditions.

"Our great natural resources are just now being touched, and within comparatively few years West Virginia has taken its place as the second coal producing state in the Union. We are facing a great future, and as the development of the State's mining industry continues to grow apace there will be a widespread demand for labor and this labor will necessarily command good wages.

"On and after July 1, 1914, West Virginia will be a prohibition State, and I do not hesitate to say that, in my endeavors to see that prohibition is made a reality, I will exert every authority vested in me as Chief executive of the State. We believe that this will be a factor in elevating the standard of citizenship of the miners, as well as all other classes of people in the State, and we are anxious to bring within our borders sober, moral and law abiding people who will assist in developing the richest mineral State in the Union and will dwell in peace and harmony in a land of wonderful promise. I think this will be a wonderful inducement to the miner and will bring to us an influx of good citizens."

Governor Hatfield was for many years prior to his election as Governor of the State physician for a number of coal companies in the McDowell county section and is familiar with the work and needs of the miners. He realizes that in many cases they have been subjected to hardships, but he believes these unjust conditions are practically eliminated, and that there is to be offered in the mines of West Virginia worthy recognition in every way for the man who earns his living by his toil.

"The church, the school, the lodge, and every other influence for the betterment and uplift of the people are to be found in the mining villages of West Virginia, and these are factors that should have the consideration of every laboring man having at heart not only his own welfare, but that of his family, in determining where it is best for him to locate.

"The educational facilities of the State are being improved steadily and the public school system will afford those of the coming generation an opportunity to secure a fair education, and after completion of the graded school course they have open to them the normal schools of the State where they may secure, free of all charge, except their board and actual expenses, their instruction in advanced courses, and where they may equip themselves fully for varied careers.

"The sanitary conditions existing in our mining villages are also steadily improving and will compare favorably with the conditions to be found in any other mining sections. We are now striving with the cooperation of both the operators and miners to make the sanitary surroundings better than can be found in any other mining state.

"The average home of the miner in West Virginia has connected with it ample grounds for a garden, and aside from his other labor the miner has time to turn his attention to some agricultural pursuits. This division he will find both profitable and pleasant, and it will aid him materially in reducing the expenses of living.

Something Wrong

By F. A. MITCHEL

"The country's going to the demnation bowwows!"

"What's the matter now, old man?"

"Why, this income tax is an outrage. They allow a married man a $4,000 exception and a single man only $3,000. We poor bachelors are doomed to live alone. We have no home, no wife, no children. Our expenses are necessarily higher than those of a married man, who doesn't have to belong to a club and spend the money that is an essential of the bachelor state. Notwithstanding all this, I, who have an income of $4,000, have to pay a tax on $1,000, while the married man with the same amount goes scot free. It's an outrage."

"If you prefer the married man's place, why don't you take a wife?"

"By Jove, I believe I'll do it! Just to get ahead of the government."

This dialogue took place between Dick Ryerson and Arnold Thurston, bachelors, in the Calumet club one morning after the first publication of the terms of the income tax. The complainant, Ryerson, though his income was all expended on himself, had a hard time making ends meet, and any reduction of the amount whatever was liable to upset his financial calculations.

"In order to beat 'em," Thurston replied to the last remark, "you'll have to marry a girl without more than $1,000 a year. Anything over that will be combined with your own income and must pay a tax."

"I don't suppose the only girl in the world I want has a cent of income. I can write her a note asking her about it before I propose."

"That would be a brilliant scheme. She would probably write back that if you wanted her on a money consideration you could look elsewhere for a wife."

"I won't put it that way. I'll tell her that I don't wish my wife to have any income at all, that she is to rely on me for everything, and if she has no money it's a proposal; if she has, it isn't. See?"

"Oh, yes; I see," doubtfully.

"Well, what do you see?"

"Fireworks."

When an idea gets into the head of a confirmed bachelor, especially as to matrimony, no one can tell just what he will do. Mr. Ryerson did just what he had said he would do and without the expected fireworks. Miss Engleheart, to whom he made the singular conditional proposition, was rather pleased with it. She wrote the proposer that since she came within his conditions—conditions which she considered worthy of a manly man—she accepted his proposition.

The day after he received the acceptance he met his friend Thurston again at the club.

"I'm going to beat the government," said Ryerson.

"How?" asked Thurston, somewhat astonished.

"I'm going to marry a girl who has nothing and pay no tax."

"Come off! You're guying me."

"Fact." And he gave Thurston Miss Engleheart's letter to read. The latter scratched his head.

"Dick," he said presently, "there's something wrong somewhere in this case."

"Why do you think so?"

"Well, your proposition is so unheard of that I can't conceive of any woman taking it seriously."

Ryerson smiled.

"I'm afraid you're up a tree."

"What can I do?"

"Crawfish."

"I won't do that. Fact is I don't want to do that. I'm in it, and I'm going to stay in it."

"Well, it may come out all right. There's one thing I can say to you to encourage you. It has seemed to me that any girl receiving such a proposition—that is, your making any conditions whatever—would send it back with a stick of dynamite attached. But I've observed this about women: They generally do just the opposite from what one expects them to do."

"This is encouraging, isn't it?"

"It's all the comfort I can give you."

Ryerson stayed on it, as he said he would, and after a brief engagement he was married. He remained away from his club during the honeymoon, but as soon as it had passed he made his appearance there. The first man he met was Thurston.

"Well, old chapple," said the latter, "so you've beaten the government."

Ryerson's face fell. "Do you remember what you said about there being something wrong?"

"Yes, but I hope I was wrong."

"And that you said a woman would always do what you expected her not to do?"

"Why, yes; I remember that too. I hope nothing has occurred to make you regret it."

"Oh, no; nothing like that, but I didn't beat the government after all."

"You didn't beat the government after all?"

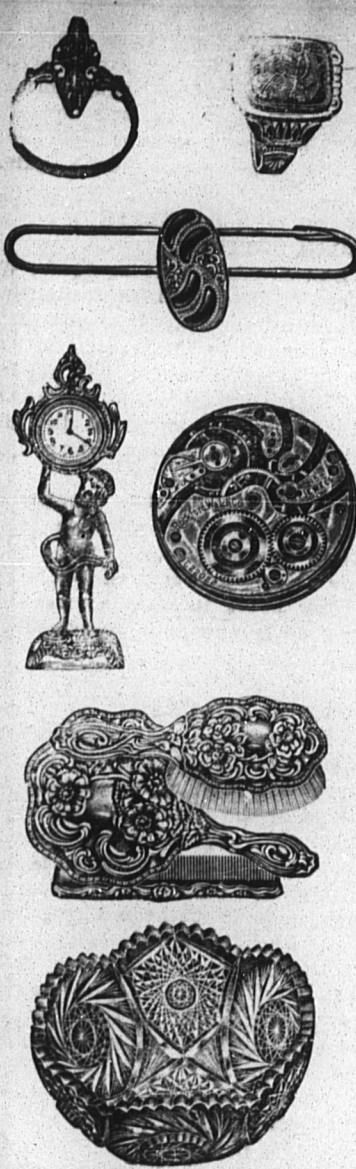

"No, the government beat me."

"How?"

"Why, the woman I married concealed the fact that she had an income of $3,000 a year. As a bachelor I would have paid a tax on $1,000, and now as a married man I'll have to pay on $2,000."

"A dead swindle, isn't it?"

"You bet; you were right after all. The wife's on me. Come, let's go into the cafe."

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

They love to take it and it doesn't harm the tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

MR. LEMON'S BROTHER ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

O. M. Lemon, traveling salesman for the Pikeville Grocery Co., received word by telegraph last Monday afternoon that his brother, Charles Lemon, had been accidentally killed in a railway wreck at Roanoke, Va. Mr. Lemon left Monday afternoon for Roanoke, but before going stated that he doubted the accuracy of the advice, because his brother was employed at another place. But word was received by friends here Tuesday confirming the original report. Several others were also killed or injured in the wreck.

NEW PASTOR ARRIVES.

Rev. Samuel Linge, wife and seven children, arrived here Tuesday from Brown City, Mich., their former home. Rev. Linge will be the new pastor of the First Methodist church on Main-st., to succeed Rev. J. A. Lewis, who is now located at Russell, Ky.

Mr. Linge is a young man of wide experience, education and literary and social gifts, and Mrs. Linge, who is similarly gifted with high ideals of education and art, is a lady of quiet mien, and she, with her six little boys and one girl—a most interesting family group—have this early made a place for themselves in the estimation of the people of Pikeville, and particularly among the members of Rev. Linge's church. They are now moving into the parsonage, which adjoins the church and the new pastor will deliver the first sermon of his new charge at the close of the revival meetings at the courthouse.

RUTH WARD RECOVERING.

Four year old Ruth Ward, who some months ago became a victim of the little known disease, scleroderma, which has hitherto been considered incurable, is recovering.

When the little girl first began to suffer from the effects of the strange disease, local physicians were called in, and she was afterwards taken to Louisville, and later before the annual session of the Southern Medical Association at Lexington. Eminent physicians from all the principal cities of America, numbering more than two hundred in all, made a scientific examination of the case; but as only a very few cases have developed in the United States in the past decade, no practical advice could be offered. But it was the opinion of most of these that she would never recover, and would finally die of the strange malady that draws and hardens the skin all over the body.

Contrary to their views, however, she is showing most encouraging imdications of a swift and certain recovery, and the skin, particularly on the face, is now becoming normally soft, and her physicians hope that within a few months she will be restored to her normal health again.

AGED MEN PARALYZED; BOTH BETTER.

Last Saturday morning Squire William Tackitt, who lives at the mouth of Ratliff's creek, was slightly stricken with paralysis, beginning in the bottom of the left foot. It was feared that the stroke would become total, and that he would die. But such was not the case, however, and he is now better.

Uncle Bill Trivette received a slight stroke of paralysis in the right side Monday, and for a while his case looked serious. But within a few hours it began to wear off, and he is now fully recovered and able to be out again.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Harlan Stone, an assistant bookkeeper in the office of the Marrowbone Coal Co., at Rockhouse, was killed by the accidental discharge of a revolver last Saturday evening. Stone had been drinking it is said, and was preparing to clean out the gun when it discharged into his face. Death resulted almost instantaneously. His brother, Alex Stone, was here on his way to Ashland when the news of the accident reached him. He took the next train for Marrowbone.

MRS. STARKEY'S MOTHER DIES.

Mrs. N. Starkey received word last Friday night announcing the death of her mother, Mrs. A. J. Crutchfield, at Asheville, N. C., whither she had been taken for her health from her home at Williamsburg, Ky., six weeks previously. Mrs. Crutchfield had been a victim of a tubercular affection of the lungs for several years, but recently grew worse, and was taken to the pine forests of North Carolina in the hope of improving her health. But she gradually grew worse instead of better, and died last Friday evening.

Mrs. Starkey and her sister, Miss Oia Crutchfield, left by the early train Saturday for Williamsburg, where they attended the funeral and interment of their mother Monday.

ANGIE PORTER PASSES AWAY.

Angie, the 20-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Porter, died last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home at Boldman, Ky., near Laynesville, from the effects of a relapse of cold, after only a short illness. She was first taken sick through the Christmas season, but soon was well again. Thinking too early that she had recovered, she became subject to exposure which resulted in the relapse.

The funeral and interment were held Sunday afternoon at the home, and several friends from Pikeville attended, among them Mrs. Kate D. Hatcher and son and two daughters.

WHAT PREPARATIONS?

Will the West Virginia liquor interests pass their measure through the Kentucky Legislature decreeing a division of Pike county so as to create a new county, while Pike-co. people are asleep on the defense?

Remember, citizens, that many a battle has been won by the care and vigilance of the one side, and the sleepy procrastination of the other. Let your committees, then, which were organized two weeks ago for the purpose of fighting these encroachments, get busy. Much is to be done upon both sides of the controversy, and there remains but little time to do it in, because the initial steps toward securing the division will be made during the present term of the Legislature; and if a petition goes unopposed before that body signed by a few hirelings from the Eastern half of the county, and upon it the legislature decrees that a popular election must be held for the purpose of determining the will of the people in the matter, the West Virginia interests will rejoice that they have won their victory over Pike county people. To silence the move forever, it only remains for Pike-co. people to draft a resolution and forward it to the Legislature, warning them that it is not the popular will that the county be divided for the private benefit of a few West Virginia saloonists, politicians and real estate men, and when that delegation goes to Frankfort they will be met by honest legislative investigators who will have been forewarned of their private and selfish intentions, and your representatives will not allow your rights to be ruthlessly—and uselessly—trampled upon by these barons of business from the Siberian coal fields called West Virginia.

A local vaudeville company, composed of Pikeville talent, is preparing to stage the recent New York sensation, "Within the Law," at the Imp theater, with Dr. E. C. Edgar as manager of the staging work and director of the play. The cast will contain eight characters.

Judge J. M. Roberson recently spent several days on legal business at Frankfort.

Police Judge Robt. L. Miller and Jasper Saad spent last Saturday in Ashland.

Rev. Wm. H. Stith, who has been conducting the revival services at the courthouse for three weeks past, delivered a reply Friday night to the Benton Harbor representative of the House of David, who made several speeches here in the open street. He left for Paintsville two days before Mr. Stith launched his caustic reply.

George W. Spear and Kenis Vanhoose, of Paintsville were both business callers to Pikeville last Friday.

Oliver H. Stumbo, sheriff of Floyd county, and Hi Lafferty, both of Prestonsburg, were here Tuesday.

Aube Saad, of Blissfield, Mich., is here for a few days as the guest of his nephews, Sam and Jasper Saad.

Attorney F. W. Stowers returned Monday from Frankfort, where he went to dissuade the Kentucky Legislature from granting a partition of Pike county, as suggested by a party of West Virginia men engaged in the liquor, real estate, lumber and political business.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Englar left Monday for Fort Pierce, Fla., where they will spend a vacation of several weeks.

John Sword, who has been down with malarial fever for several days, is now improved.

Mrs. M. A. Lenton and little daughter, of Henry Clay, were in town shopping Tuesday.

W. P. McVay, of Prestonsburg, is here this week.

Moull Morris spent Monday as the guest of his father and mother on Big Creek.

Mrs. Robt. Ratliff has been very sick for several days. She is now better.

Judge A. J. Kirk, of Paintsville, will hold a special term of the circuit here at Pikeville next week.

LETCHER COUNTY.

WHITESBURG, KY., Jan. 27.—A party of Michigan people were in the vicinity of Thornton creek above here Saturday looking over the properties of the Roberta Coal Co. with a view of leasing it. It is said the party was pleased with the "lay of the land," and that it is thoroughly evident that actual work looking to the development of the property will be started within the next few weeks.

For a long time it has been known that Thornton, Colly, and Millstone creeks were all immensely rich coal sections and considering just what has been done hereabouts looking to the development it is evidently true. Developments on Thornton will mean the building of about a three mile branch of the Lexington and Eastern railroad.

Rush work characterizes the building of the new model roadway from Mayking to Kona, mouth of Boone's Fork, six miles, and fine progress is being made. Within three or four months the road will be completed and our people will begin to learn the value of good roads. It is said that the next session of the Letcher Fiscal court will make arrangements to build a connection from this city to Mayking, and a section from Kona to Fleming forming a complete connection from Whitesburg to Jenkins. This would be a great convenience for the people of Whitesburg. Letcher county is actually getting the spirit of good roads.

At Sergeant Thursday night Mrs. Nelson R. Webb, mother of Archie and Jesse Webb, off Red Jacket, W. Va., Mrs. S. S. Cassity, of Morehead and Mrs. Lula Gudger, of Minersville, N. C., died after a long illness, and in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives the remains were laid to rest in Thornton cemetery to await the resurrection morn. She was about 35 years old, had long led a devoted Christian life and died rejoicing in the faith. To the children and other near relatives we offer our heartfelt condolence in this, their dark hour of bereavement.

The trial of Thomas McGraw was completed in the Letcher circuit court Friday and he was acquitted. It will be remembered that McGraw killed James Hunley in this county a month or more ago, accidentally.

The trial of Zeke Younts, of Upper Rockhouse creek resulted in an acquittal also. Younts killed Christopher Meade, aged 17, a deaf and dumb boy while they were in a scuffle over a shot gun. Samuel Maggard was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter and will get from ten to twenty-one years in the Penitentiary for stabbing to death his son-in-law William Combs at Little Colly Christmas day.

Manager Everett Drennen of The Consolidation Coal Co., Jenkins, was in the city Saturday and when seen by the NEWS correspondent said: The mines at Jenkins were run four days the past week and this week full time will be run, continuing thereafter, despite the report going the rounds that the mines had practically closed down. Mr. Drennen said conditions were the same in McRoberts, and that the new year, 1914, will witness renewed activity throughout the whole of The Consolidation operations.

Samuel Hart, former merchant and good citizen of Colly, who was here last week from Paint Lick, Garred-co., will, it is said, purchase his old home place and return from the Blue Grass section. By way of comment Sam said: "There's no place like the old home place," and he meant it too.

A party of fifteen, including Miss Martha Potter, Beiva Adams, Myrtle and Ethel Webb, Jesse Holbrook, Henry Holbrook, Albert Fields and others left here for the State Normal at Richmond.

N. M. Webb, Editor of The Mountain Eagle accompanied the party and will return to-morrow.

Deputy Collector C. L. Fuson, R. B. Franklin, Isam Haynes, Ben Sergeant and others, out for Uncle Sam, returned from Pike-co., where the officers expected an important moon shine raid. They poured out quite a quantity of whiskey and beer, but cut no stills nor made no arrests.

Small pox continues to rage in different sections of the county. According to telephone information from Ermine Benton Blair farmer has developed a genuine case. Guards are placed around the two or three cases in box cars near Whitesburg. Health officers are taking every precaution to prevent any further spread of the disease.

The new Mountain Mission school founded by the Rev. Edward O. Guerrant, of Wilmore, and Thomas B. Talbot, of Jackson, is billed to open its doors to the public Feb. 3 with a splendid corps of teachers. Much good will result from the school there.

Judge John F. Butler was called to Frankfort the middle of last week to see up his contest suit between himself and Judge J. M. Roberson, Attorney D. D. Fields accompanying him. Judge Eversole served on the judicial bench until Judge Butler returned.

The Letcher County Grand jury closed Friday evening its 12 day session returning a large number of indictments, seven murder cases, a large number for whiskey and pistols, civil and penal suits. Judge Butler is still determined to rid the docket of its large number of murder cases.

In the lower end of the county a few days ago Mr. J. D. Frazier, a young farmer was married to Miss Cordelia Roark, aged 20 after a long courtship. They will reside near Roxana.

Hogg, Frazier and Lewis are advertising for a big lot sale in the new town of Neon above here which will take place Feb. 27. Much interest will be manifested in the sale. Neon is rapidly growing and is destined to be one of the best business locations anywhere in the Boone's Fork or Elkhorn coal fields.

FOR SALE. 18 acres land, one mile below Fort Gay, W. Va., on Big Sandy river, N. and W. R. R. and county road; good 5-room dwelling and out buildings, good young orchard, good garden of one acre; beautiful location to live; 9 acres of this land overflows every year, good for 500 bu. corn. Land joining it for sale. If I sell by the 20 of February $100 less will buy it. I will make the price right. See or write J. M. LOVELLY, Fort Gay, W. Va. 5t.-1-12.

AN INCESSANT COUGH.

A severe cough is always a grave symptom. It may not indicate organic disease of the lungs. Even though the cough is a functional disturbance it is of sufficient gravity to demand prompt attention.

The dropping of mucus from the back part of the nose into the throat indicates nasal catarrh. Sometimes this goes on a long time before the patient pays any attention to it. It is stated on good authority that mucus dropping into the throat in this way is apt to excite catarrh of the stomach. At any rate, the condition ought to be corrected as soon as possible.

Mrs. Bourland, of Frankston, Texas, found after using Peruna that not only did the incessant cough disappear, but the dropping of mucus into the throat had also ceased. Read what she says:

"For twenty-three years I was a constant sufferer from chronic catarrh. I had a severe misery and burning in the top of my head. There was almost a continual dropping of mucus into my throat, which caused frequent expectoration. My entire system gradually became involved, and my condition grew worse. I had an incessant cough and frequent attacks of bilious colic, from which it seemed I could not recover. My bowels also became affected, causing alarming attacks of hemorrhages.

"I tried many remedies, which gave only temporary relief, or no relief at all. I at last tried Peruna, and in three days I was relieved of the bowel derangement. After using five bottles I was entirely cured.

"I most cheerfully recommend the use of Peruna to any one similarly afflicted."

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets. Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Lucky Day Almanac for 1914.
